FOURTEENTH YEAR

JOHN C. MACKAY

PEOPLES' CANDIDATE FOR OFFICE OF GOVERNOR ON REPUBLICAN TICKET

Salt Lake, July 28.—John C. Mackay who has announced himself as a candidate for the office of Governor on the Republican ticket, is a native son of Utah, having been born of pioneer parents in Salt Lake City, on November 30, 1857.

He is a graduate of the University of Utah, and was president of the alumni in 1907. After leaving school he followed bookkeeping two years, then entered the sheep business in which he has been interested ever since. He has labored in the interest of the sheep and wool industry for many years. He is no wpresident of the Western Wyoming Land and Live Stock Company of the Altamont Shearling Company and vice president of the Utah State Wool Growers.

Mr. Mackay has taken an active part in the development of Salt Lake county. He helped construct the canals on the west side of the Jordan and was secretary of the Utah Lake System for ten years, also secretary, vice president and president of the North Jordan canal. He was also water commissioner and divided the water into the canal. Mr. Mackay was a member of the state legislature elected in 1912, serving with such men as Judge Marshall, Frank Pierce, Judge King and others. He served eight years as commissioner of Salt Lake County and was chairman of the board for five years. During his term the county infirmary hospital and the county jail were erected, the lighting system on the roads installed steel and concrete bridges built over the Jordan, the macadam roads constructed, and county bonds amounting to $120,000 were paid off.

Mr. Mackay desires his friends to understand that he is in the race for governor to stay until the matter is determined by the Republican convention. He desires to see the delegates come to the convention unpledged, so that a free and open expression of the desires of the people may be secured.

He states that he will stand on the platform adopted by the Republican convention. He believes that the majority of the people should rule, and that their policies and beliefs should be incorporated into the platform.

On the question of prohibition, Mr. Mackay, feels that the people should have their way on this matter, and if they do he is confident that the Republican party will not side step a state wide prohibition plank at the Ogden convention.

CARD OF THANKS HOUSES FOR SALE

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks and gratitude to all those who so kindly assisted us during the illness and death of our devoted husband and father, to the speakers and singers, and to all those who contributed in any way to comfort and console us.

Mrs. J. P. Jensen Ostrup and Family

The city commission has decided to ask the taxpayers of the city for permission to bond the city for $85,000 with which to improve the water system and rebuild part of the distribution system of the electric light plant. $70,000 will be used for water purposes and the remaining $15,000 for rebuilding some of the pole lines. The election is to take place on the 2nd of September.

COUNTY AGENT FOR BOX ELDER IS PROPOSED

Box Elder County is considering the appointment of a county agricultural agent under the Smith Lever bill. This bill, passed by congress two years ago, provides a sum of money annually to each of the states to be apportioned to the counties of the states through the State Agricultural College in an amount to pay one half the cost of a county agent. The county pays the other half of the cost. The agent, who must be a graduate of an agricultural college, works directly with the farmers during the cropping season, carrying to the farm the latest scientific knowledge available. During the winter months he busies himself collecting data for the government on which it is able to base its investigations for the betterment of rural conditions throughout the United States.

Already the Utah Agricultural College has placed nine county agents, one in each of the following counties or parts of counties: Beaver, Sevier, Millard, Utah, Salt Lake, Weber, Carbon and Emery, Duchesne and Uinta, Iron.

Their work is meeting with universal satisfaction. The Salt Lake county commissioners say that they deem the position of county agent one of the most important in the county. Duchesne values the work of the county agents greatly above the cost. Weber county feels that the general value of the agent to the county in assisting to better farming conditions is far in excess of the cost to say nothing of the individual help which the agent renders.

YOUNG MEN MAKING SUCCESS OF BUSINESS

Last spring the Cache Auto Company organized in this city and took over the Ford automobile agency. The young men identified with this concern are just winding up their 1916 contract for Ford cars and report that during the season nearly ninety Fords have been sold by them in this territory. Only yesterday a Ford roadster was sold to Mr. F. A. Dahle for use by the Dahle & Eccles Contracting Company.

On the floor of the Cache Auto Co. is being put together a new Henney commercial body which is being built on a Ford chassis. This delivery has been purchased by the Murdock Candy Company for use in its city delivery service. The Ford Garage, as this place of business is commonly called, is managed by Mr. V. A. Finlayson with Carlyle Nibley as one of his able assistants, and we wish to congratulate these young men on the fine showing that they have made. Their garage is one of the busiest in the city.

"SALLY IN OUR ALLEY" AT LYRIC MON. & TUES.

When William A. Brady said that he would personally see that each star acting under contract for him would be equipped with adequate material and plays which were suited to their talents, he never for a moment thought that he would strike the nail right on the head with his first personally selected play and stars. In Sally In Our Alley, which is the offering at the Lyric Theater on Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. Brady presents Carlyle Blackwell and Muriel Ostriche in a play which fits both these picture stars like a glove, and has all the bearings of a written to order play. Fans who appreciate and love the heart interest love drama should not fail to see this picture when it is shown in this city.

CELEBRATION AT SMITHFIELD GREAT SUCCESS

Smithfield, July 27.—Our Pioneer Day celebration on Monday was a great success. A very fine program was carried out during the morning. The musical numbers were excellent and the oration by John T. Cain was very much enjoyed by a large crowd of people. Sports of all kinds furnished amusement during the afternoon. The day's pleasure ended with a ball in the evening.

The Wellsville choir gave a musical program in the Second ward tabernacle last Sunday evening which was deserving of much praise for the excellent numbers rendered.

CONTRIBUTION FROM U. A. C. BY MISS MC CHEYNE

The Utah Agricultural College, thru its Extension Division, has just completed arrangements by which it will be enabled to enlarge its field of service in the intermountain west. Beginning with July 22, a Home Economics department was established in the intermountain Catholic under the direction of Miss Gertrude McCheyne, Extension Specialist in Home Economics.

This department will contain articles from week to week on all phases of home activity, each article being written by an expert from the College. The first contribution was from Miss McCheyne and discussed the timely subject of canning fruits, vegetables, and meats in the home.

Among the articles that will follow the following will appear: Home decoration and management, care of children, practical methods of cooking, home poultry yard management, and dressmaking.

DAVID MATTSON

SECRETARY OF STATE MATTSON IS OUT FOR PASSAGE OF 'DRY LAW'

Salt Lake, July 28.—David Mattson, Secretary of State, has issued a statement in which he says the time has come for the Legislature of Utah to enact a state wide prohibition law and in an analysis of the situation declares that the people of the state want prohibition and they will get it through the Legislature and the number of men in the Legislature pledged to prohibition will be sufficient to pass the bill over the veto of the chief executive, if such a veto should take place. He declares that the Republican party will sweep the state if the platform to be adopted at Ogden contains a provision for state wide prohibition and announces that he is in favor of state wide prohibition and will make his campaign for renomination as secretary of state on such a platform.

"It is plain to me," said Mr. Mattson, "that the people of this state want prohibition and it will be sure to come for any political party to oppose the movement. Much has been said about submitting this question to the people at a special election to be provided for by the next Legislature. If there were any reasonable grounds for uncertainty as to the temper of the people on this matter, there might be some excuse for such a proposition. But it is simply a stall for time, and nothing more.

Says People Demand It

"In my opinion the people have already expressed themselves on the question. The result of the general election two years ago goes to prove this. Moreover, the action taken by a strong majority of the people's representatives in the 1915 session of the Legislature furnished irre & e evidence of what the people wanted at that time. If there has been a change in public sentiment since that time, it has been to intensify the popular demand for prohibition.

"In view of existing conditions, I fail to see what the antiprohibitionists can hope to gain by continuing their unconditional opposition to the movement. There is no possible chance to longer withstand the issue. Regardless of the political complexion of the next Legislature, state wide prohibition will be provided by direct legislative enactment, and if it becomes necessary it will be passed over the head of the executive who dares to veto it.

"Consider the situation. There are nine holdover state senators. Eight of this number are already on record for prohibition and each and every one of them is determined to recoup the loss their cause sustained in the last session, when their earnest efforts were overridden by executive action. These eight men are seasoned and prepared to lead the fight to a decisive conclusion. Of the nine new senators to be elected, it is safe to presume that at least five will be personally pledged to prohibition. Hence, the next Senate is bound to have a working majority, even over the governor's veto, should such a situation arise.

House For Prohibition

"The next House will likewise be overwhelmingly for a state wide prohibition measure and as I analyze the situation it too will be strong enough to pass such an act over the veto. Twenty-four counties are sure to pledge their representatives for direct legislative enactment and it would not surprise me in the least if two of the four remaining counties will not take similar action at the polls.

"How then can the antiprohibitionists hope to succeed? To my mind they are merely inviting drastic action and disastrous consequences to themselves. Unless they change their present attitude, it would seem that they themselves are more unreasonable than the prohibitionists. It is my idea that they can best gain a consideration of the merits of their cause by accepting the inevitable and assuming a conciliatory attitude. Moreover, I believe that the prohibitionists, unless forced to resort to extreme measures, are universally of a mind to bring about the desired order of things without working any unnecessary hardship or injury upon any person or concern.

"Personally, I would like to see all of the political parties take favorable positive action on the prohibition question and thereby remove it as a campaign issue. Then, when the next Legislature convenes, it would be possible for not only the prohibitionists, but all other persons concerned, to meet on mutual grounds of public interest and enact a satisfactory measure that would forever settle the matter. Until this question is definitely settled, other matters also of vital concern to the people will not get the attention they deserve."
